

Your Conscious & Subconscious Mind

I want you to really begin to notice when each element of your mind is in play both now and in previous situations.

The more you identify the roles played in your life the more able you are to make the changes you want.

Really think about what the any secondary gains could of been for you?

